

Meaning Streams

Often our sense of meaning and purpose in life doesn't come from one source. Many things in our lives can contribute a little, or a lot, toward us feeling like our lives are worthwhile.

We can think of it a bit like a river; it starts as a small stream high up a mountain, gradually getting bigger as more streams join on to it.

Label the streams below with things that give your life meaning.

